Amur maple
Acer tartaricum

Bark: smooth, gray when young, develops narrow irregular ridges with age
Foliage: opposite, simple, lobed generally 3, with a middle lobe longer than wide
Twigs: very slender, yellow/green or red/brown; terminal bud pointed, but very small
Flowers: yellow/green, small; Fruit: paired “helicopters” (samaras); many, persisting in winter

Code: ACTA80
Status: non-native